

World History General Resources

The following are general resources that can supplement Waves of Global Change: A Holistic World History. Individual resources for each chapter are listed under the chapter headings.

Annenberg Learner.

<http://www.learner.org/resources/browse.html?discipline=7&grade=4&imageField2.x=8&imageField2.y=11>
Social Studies and History resources. Particularly useful for world history is the Bridging World History series
<http://www.learner.org/resources/series197.html>

Atlas of World History, Wikipedia http://commons.wikimedia.org/wiki/Atlas_of_world_history random maps of world history

Federal Resources for Educational Excellence http://free.ed.gov/subjects.cfm?subject_id=22
World studies and world history information.

Finding Dulcinea http://www.findingdulcinea.com/guides/Education/High-School-World-History.pg_00.html#00
Looks like some links and information.

Hyper History http://www.hyperhistory.com/online_n2/History_n2/a.html
Nice timelines, maps, information. Some advertisement.

Internet History Sourcebooks Project <http://www.fordham.edu/Halsall/index.asp>
The Internet History Sourcebooks Project is a collection of public domain and copy-permitted historical texts presented cleanly (without advertising or excessive layout) for educational use. Great resources!! A must to view.

Macro History and World Report <http://www.fsmitha.com/index.html>
Maps, country profiles, timelines, book summaries, charts, and more. A few advertisements but lots of information for world history, in particular the Urban and Modern Waves.

National Endowment for the Humanities. Edsitement: The Best of the Humanities on the Web. Although mostly for American history, there are some world history resources on this website:
<http://edsitement.neh.gov/subject/history-social-studies>

National Geographic Teacher Resources
http://education.nationalgeographic.com/education/teaching-resources/?ar_a=1
Not just world history but lots of interesting teacher resources. As always great maps and pictures.

Outreach World: Resources for Teaching Kids about the World.
<http://www.outreachworld.org/searchresources.asp>
Wide variety of resources.

Time Maps. <http://www.timemaps.com/>

Variety of free resources for maps of world history mainly from the Urban Wave onward. They do sell some products as well but not overridden with advertisement.

Women in World History <http://chnm.gmu.edu/wwh/>

Sources for women in world history, part of the World History Matters project.

World History Association <http://www.thewha.org/>

A community of scholars, teachers, and students who are passionately committed to the study of the history of the human community across regional, cultural and political boundaries.

World History Compass <http://www.worldhistorycompass.com/>

Some links to information. Looks a little bit dated.

World History Connected <http://worldhistoryconnected.press.illinois.edu/>

Good website with articles, links, and other resources.

World History for Us All <http://worldhistoryforusall.sdsu.edu/default.php>

A particular curriculum approach for teaching world history along with some resources.

World History Matters <http://worldhistorymatters.org/>

This website is a portal to world history websites developed by the Center for History and New Media. This is a great site.

World History Sources <http://chnm.gmu.edu/worldhistorysources/index.html>

A project of the Roy Rosenzweig Center for History and New Media, George Mason University. Finding world history, unpacking evidence, analyzing documents, and teaching sources.